Read Me for FX Elements
©2020 FX Elements. All Rights Reserved.

Should you need visual effects elements for your film, video, broadcast, multimedia work, advertisement, live performance, internet website, presentation or something to watch over and over again - FX Elements got you covered.

==========

Version 3.3 - October 2020 Release

==========
Included:

- RGB OPEN EXR files (no alpha) and/or

- RGBA OPEN EXR files (which includes an alpha channel)

We do not guarantee that our alpha channel (or matte) is perfect; we only provide it so you can quickly include the file in your project. Feel free of course to create your own alpha by any means necessary.

==========

License Agreement

By purchasing, downloading, installing or using (in any manner) a file ("Content") from FX Elements, you automatically accept the terms of FX Elements' License Agreement.

Summary:
- The Content remains the property of FX Elements.
- The Content may be used by the licensee in any personal, commercial or educational projects (royalty-free), subject to restrictions (See FX Elements' License Agreement or FX Element's Educational License Agreement depending on your order).
- The Content may not be resold or redistributed.

You can read the entire License Agreement at:
https://www.fxelements.com/content/license-agreement and/or the entire Educational License Agreement at:
https://www.fxelements.com/content/educational-license-agreement-royalty-free